Report identifies Haliburton & Dorset as areas for future tourism growth

A $125,000 government funded investigation into the tourist potential of the Haliburton-Peterborough area has identified two points in this county for future development. They are the Haliburton Village and Lake Kashagawigamog area and the Dorset area.

The study, carried out for the Ministry of Industry and Tourism and the Central Ontario Tourist Association, was released at a meeting Thursday at Wig-a-Mog Inn.

The Peterborough-Haliburton Tourism Development Strategy is one of a number of intensive investigations carried out on various regions in the province. The purpose of the undertaking is to analyse the tourism base of the area and suggest potential areas for development.

Government officials on hand for the presentation of the study's results were eager to point out that the report does not represent government policy or opinion but rather that of the consulting firm, Laventhol and Horwath of Toronto who carried out the investigation. However, the officials admitted that following the release of similar studies in the past, areas which have been identified as potential growth points do, in fact, experience an increase in interest by investors. For many, particularly those from outside the area in question, the study becomes a guide which directs their interest to specific locations.

One of the consultants who addressed the gathering Thursday described the 600 plus page document as a general guide and not a blueprint to development in the region.

Wilderness attraction

The study identified the entire Haliburton region as having the attraction of natural features. They described the theme as "accessible wilderness" and suggested that development

Public will see new by-law at open house

The ratepayers of Anson, Hindon and Minden will get their first look at the revised by-law this Saturday. An open house is planned for the morning and part of the afternoon with a meeting scheduled for 3 p.m. to hear the concerns of the citizens.

The zoning by-law is the document which controls the use of land within the municipality and sets certain standards for building location and construction. The document is a major tool in directing the future development of the community.

The zoning by-law which is presently in force was written in 1967. The present council undertook to update the document. There was concern about the value of the provisions contained in the 1967 by-law since a number of recent Ontario Municipal Board Hearings have successfully challenged the certain aspects of the document.

A number of cottage and lake organizations have expressed concern about certain provisions in the by-law. They have indicated their intention to be on hand Saturday.

The Ministry of Natural Resources has also expressed concern over the designation of what is known as "hazard land" along the banks of the Gull River and Beaver Creek in the Minden Village area. Designating the land under the hazard zoning could severely restrict development in the community.

The council has yet to formulate a position on the MNR objections to the hazard zone, however plans were made at the October 14 meeting to meet with District Manager for MNR, Don White, to discuss the problems associated with the zoning. The council is also receiving advice from its planning consultants on the matter.

Other items of concern with regard to the new by-law which were discussed at the October 14 meeting include the number and distribution of group homes in the municipality. While some members of council expressed reservations about having such facilities in all zones in the township, others suggested that control through setting a minimum distance between the homes could be imposed.

There was also some question of whether the municipal zoning by-law should allow permanent residential development on lots which front on a public road alone, or whether access to that road should also be a necessity. The difference is more than semantic. It has recently become important since approval was given for building permits for a number of lots adjacent to Highway 35. The lots front on a publicly maintained road, Highway 35, but the Ministry of Transportation and Communications will not give the owners access to the highway. As a result a private road

Loan approved for BIA study

The Minden Business Improvement Area (BIA) will receive a $3000 temporary loan from the municipality to help cover the expenses which will be incurred with the upcoming core area study. The advance was agreed to by members of the council October 14.

The funds will be recovered through a special BIA levy which will be assessed before the end of the year.

However, before the council agrees to provide more funds for the organization, they are requesting a meeting with the executive to iron out questions of financial control. Council representative Ed Pergolas told the meeting that the BIA was without a charter or rules and regulations to cover its operation. He pointed out that the group is operating without a constitution and suggested that the organization is, "struggling for lack of information." He said an effort should be made to define the areas of responsibility between the BIA and the municipality.

The councillor noted, for example, that some members of the BIA believe the municipality next year will have $60,000 for downtown improvements. This amount is based on $20,000 budgeted by the council in 1980, 1981 and next year. the budget went untouched in the past two years and, according to the councillor, some members feel the amount has simply been accumulating over the years. He indicated that the council and BIA executive should work out a plan for using the money, but also noted that only $20,000 was available and questioned whether the municipality intended the money to be a Folk singer David Archibald entertained junior students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden and Victoria Street School in Haliburton last week. The singer introduced the youngsters to a number of different folk music presentations and led them in several rousing sing-a-longs. The children responded enthusiastically to the entertainment. Archibald, with banjo in hand, leads another song, while, at the left, a portion of the student audience, above, is obviously enjoying the music. The singer's visit to the Minden school was sponsored by the Archie Stouffer Elementary School Home and School Association.

Soyers cottagers will protest zoning change

Members of the Soyers Lake Ratepayers Association plan to voice their objections this Saturday to proposed changes in the municipality's revised zoning by-law. The details of the new Anson, Hindon and Minden by-law and the implications for the property owners were outlined at the group's annual meeting held October 11 at PineStone Inn.

According to a spokesman for the association, the new by-law would change the zoning of property on the lake from residential to recreational residential. According to an association spokesman, Bruce Birrell, the change would appear to mean that ratepayers would be denied the use of their cottages as retirement homes. "Many of the dwellings have been constructed during the last seven years," he pointed out in a report of the annual meeting. "They have been built to a standard in excess of the minimum requirements as they were intended as permanent homes, for use in retirement. Some are over 3000 square feet in area with cement block basements and fully winterized."

Birrell noted that the new by-law would place restrictions on the use of the cottages that did not exist when the structures were built or purchased. The publicity spokesman urged the members of the association to attend the open house and meeting this weekend to express their concern over the changes to the by-law.

Other matters dealt with by the association membership, 32 were on hand for the meeting, included noting that a speed limit was in force in the narrows between Soyers Lake and Kashagawigamog.

It was also noted that the Ontario Ministry of Environment report on cottage pollution control has been completed for the lake in 1980. The recently issued report indicated that 44.4% of the private systems on the lake were classified as seriously substandard while another 16.9% were deemed unsatisfactory due to improper disposal of solid waste or wash water. Birrell noted, "These figures came as a shock to those who have conscientiously tried to equal or exceed the local requirements...could it be that systems built in accordance with local regulations established over the years are not completely satisfactory in a terrain such as ours?" The association suggested the ministry consider the use of a syphon chamber to increase the flow through the tile beds rather than the small volumes which it was claimed, tend to clog the systems.

The members were also told that the 66 foot shore allowance question was still undecided. It was noted that a county policy has been established but that the municipality has not yet made its position known in the matter.

The group was also informed that the development on Soyers Lake, which was to have encompassed 17 lots, has been reduced to 12 through negotiations between the developer and the association. "It is hoped this number of lots will be less harmful to the environment and wild life of the area, while still providing a viable development," Birrell stated.

Prior to the close of the meeting, the membership endorsed a five part resolution outlining the concerns of the group with regard to the new zoning by-law. The association suggested: the township establish a minimum half acre lot, 150 foot frontage for any further development on the lake; that the designation 'resort commercial' be eliminated from the zoning by-law to be replaced by a holding zone; that existing permanent dwellings be recognized as such, as well as the right to establish them in the future; that the approval of the zoning by-law amendments be delayed until the lake density study can be completed; and that if the new classification 'recreational residential' means reduced services, then the amount of taxes charged should be reduced to reflect this fact.

The association's concerns will be taken to the Saturday meeting by a committee which is to include Lew McCorriston, Burt Tait, Gord Ogg, Jim Thorne, Ian Stewart and Bruce Birrell.

has been constructed at the rear to serve these property owners.

Allowing private road access to land designated for permanent residential development is contrary to the Haliburton County Development Strategy and is a situation which many planners would find objectionable.

These and many other problems will be dealt with at the open house and general meeting this Saturday.

Following the meeting the council will revise the by-law if they feel it is necessary and then present it to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval. When the OMB hearing is held formal objections may be lodged against various provisions of the by-law with the OMB rendering its decision.

Junior team could qualify for playoffs

The Haliburton Highlands High School junior soccer team could qualify for the play-offs if they win today's game in Lindsay. The regular season for both the junior and senior teams ends next Wednesday.

The junior squad came up with a tie game last Wednesday in Lindsay as they faced I.E. Weldon. The final score in the match was 1-1 with Jeff Smith picking up the goal for the local team.

The senior team was shutout as they faced their counter-parts from I.E. Weldon. The final score was 1-0. According to one coach, both games were excellent, with all four teams putting forth an exceptional effort.

The seniors have been eliminated from play-off contention.

Both teams face Lindsay Collegiate today (October 21) in Lindsay for the first away game of the season.

Lane closing

The council also agreed with a suggestion from the BIA that the lane between the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and the former Minden Furniture Store be closed at the Main Street entrance. The closing, however, was not without its objections from a number of members of council.

Several months ago the council had requested the BIA executive make a decision on the future of the laneway. The group met October 7 and decided the lane posed a safety problem and requested it be closed.

When this information was brought to the meeting by Councillor Ed Pergolas, Reeve Lloyd Walker voiced his objections. He said a lot of people were not in favour of the lane closing and blocking off the entrance would cause more traffic congestion at the intersection of Peck and Main streets. He suggested that any closing be delayed until a second exit could be established from Anson Street. (Plans for the establishment of another exit near the Wrightman Realty office were discussed earlier this year.)

Councillor Lyle McKnight said the laneway is used mainly by bank customers. However, he pointed out, the Main Street exit was dangerous as drivers could not see pedestrians on the west side. "I would rather use the Peck Street intersection," McKnight stated, "as it provides a better view of the pedestrians and other traffic."

Councillor Pergolas expressed his displeasure that the council was reconsidering the closing. "I was asked to take the matter to the BIA and that they were to decide what was to be done with the laneway," Pergolas stated. "There is no sense in me taking this to the BIA is we're just going to change what they decide."

With those comments, the council agreed to proceed with the closing, even though several councillors expressed reservations about the move.

The council was also told that the BIA is planning for special Christmas promotions and will be using some of the money raised in the special levy for Christmas decorations.

should reflect this theme and be extended to all seasons of the year.

Describing the Haliburton Village as a focus for day-use facilities and services, the report suggests the surrounding area would provide recreational activity opportunities and overnight accommodation facilities.

The report identified three distinct tourism activity areas with Haliburton Village. The first was the waterfront development along the shores of Head Lake. It noted that portions of one development, including a playground, dock, beach, band shell and museum were already in place. It suggested the area could be developed further to provide activities for the visitor.

The second area was the village's business area with suggested emphasis on various festivals and programs to attract visitors to the area. It suggested that the slide ride be adapted to provide winter activity as well as the summer attraction.

The third activity area the study identified was Lake Kashagawigamog, joined to Haliburton village by water and road. The report suggested that trails for various purposes should be expanded in the area of the lake and a diversification of tourist accommodation should occur.

The report also suggested that Haliburton Village should be the site of a major first class hotel complex including conference facilities and indoor and outdoor recreational amenities.

The suggestions for the Dorset area include the construction of a major first class resort with high quality recreational facilities. Also suggested is a bus service to the ski facilities in Huntsville and further development of the area's water resources. The report also suggested that increased trail use and maintenance would add to the attractiveness of the area.

The study goes into detail on how each of these areas should be developed with suggestions on points to be emphasized and stressed in any future plans.

Minden missed

When the consultant was asked at a press conference following the presentation, why Minden and area had not been suggested for tourism development, he said the community did not have the resource base to support the potential. He said the initial investigation had indicated that this area may have potential as a day-use attraction but that was later ruled out.

Ministry of Industry and Tourism Assistant Deputy Minister for Tourism, John G. Laschinger suggested that because Minden was not mentioned as an area for tourism investment growth, does not mean it would not benefit from future development. He said that people staying in one area will be attracted to events and activities in an adjacent area.

Laschinger said that attraction should be complementary not competative. A spokesman for the consultants described Minden and other areas in the Highlands as "Hinterlands" for the central attraction area.

Now that the report has been made public, the consultants will be holding at least three more meetings to explain their findings as well as a number of private sessions with investors interested in discussing the material further. The consultants will meet with individuals in the Haliburton area November 10 and 11 and in Peterborough the following two days.

Members of the consulting firm staff and representatives of COTA answer questions about the Tourist Development Strategy after it was made public at a meeting Thursday.

Details of Lutterworth fire agreement considered

A representative of the Ontario government will attempt to find grounds for agreement between the Township of Lutterworth and the Somerville Township over fire protection. Bernard Walsh met with the members of the Lutterworth council October 15 to discuss the possible withdrawal of fire protection services from the Kinmount brigade for the southern portion of the township.

Walsh, a fire services consultant, reviewed the township's fire needs. He agreed with the members of the council that the establishment of a fire brigade was unnecessary. He cited the high cost and the fact the municipality does not have any concentration of population as reason for continuation of the present system.

The consultant said the township was being well served by its present agreement with Minden, Somerville and Laxton, Digby and Longford (Norland) townships. Each of the surrounding municipalities has agreed to respond to fires in Lutterworth Township in a specified area. In return, the township pays a yearly fee and the expenses of the fire calls.

The Somerville department has indicated to the Lutterworth council that it wishes to withdraw from the present agreement which would leave a large portion of the southeast corner of the township without protection. The township and the Kinmount brigade have an agreement which extends to the end of 1982.

Walsh agreed to meet with the Somerville council and brigade to determine if the differences could be resolved. He said he would report to the council on his efforts.

Housing statement

Members of Lutterworth council have indicated their desire to meet with representatives of the Ministry of Housing to discuss the details of a recent housing statement prepared by the government department.

The study was carried out jointly in Lutterworth, Anson, Hindon and Minden, and Stanhope Townships. The three councils were scheduled to meet with the housing representatives in early November to endorse the statements. However, the Lutterworth council has requested that a separate meeting be held first to clarify a number of statements contained in the report.

Tender accepted for wood

Tenders for the extra ceiling material left over from the library-cultural centre construction were opened at the October 14 meeting of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council. The council accepted the highest bid of $201 as submitted by Warren Mann for the tongue and groove panels.

Three other bids were received for the material ranging from $80 to $165. It was estimated that the boards were worth $280.

At the same meeting the council agreed to allow arena manager Brian Sisson to sell one of the municipal vehicles. The council was told that the truck was in "rough" condition and it wasn't expected that the truck would attract more than $100.

The council also agreed to set a limit of $200 for selling municipal property without resorting to a tendering procedure.

At the September 23 meeting the council came under fire for attempting to sell excess material from the library-cultural centre without asking for tenders first.

The $200 limit was set to save the municipality the cost of advertising. No method of determining the value of the material being considered for sale was established by the council.

Editorial

Speak up now

An important document for Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers will get its first public airing this week as the draft revisions for the municipality's zoning by-law are opened for consideration. This will be one step in a process that will eventually lead to the enactment of a new by-law which will direct development in the three townships during the next decade or more.

A zoning by-law holds the rule book to development in the municipality. Its provisions govern what sort of development can take place and where, setbacks, minimum lot sizes and frontage, size and number of structures on a piece of property and countless other details that seem now to be minor items, but later could become major hurdles to land use.

The municipality has opened the by-law to revision. In doing so the council, in consultation with planning experts, has made numerous changes and additions. These changes, once approved by the Ontario Municipal Board become very difficult to amend or by-pass.

That is precisely the reason citizens of Anson, Hindon and Minden should make an effort to familiarize themselves with the proposed changes, and, if they disagree, make their objections known. Once the by-law has been endorsed by the Ontario Municipal Board, it will be too late.

The open house is this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., with a meeting to answer questions and field citizen comments scheduled for 3 p.m. Everyone who owns property in the townships should be vitally concerned with what is taking place and make sure they are aware of the new by-law. Now is the time to express that concern.

Parochial attitude

"In general, there is a parochial attitude towards tourism which has led to local and regionally-oriented development and promotion..."

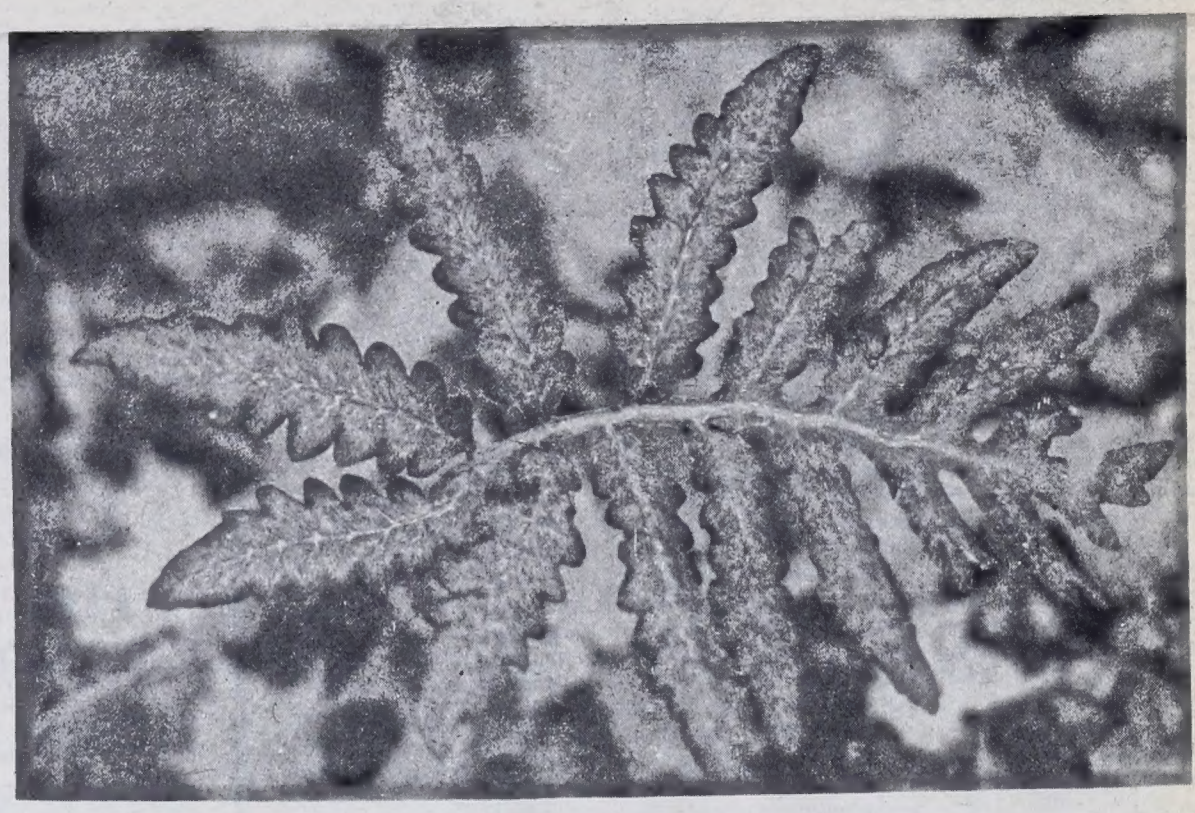
The quote is taken from the recently released Peterborough-Haliburton Tourism Development Strategy made public last week at the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Tourist Association.

It is indeed difficult for anyone from Minden and area not to develop a "parochial attitude" as they read through the recommendations of the consultants. Any potential for serious tourism development in the county, according to the report, appears to be in and around Haliburton Village and the Dorset area. It is difficult not to feel that the Minden area has suffered a serious setback in any potential tourism investment by the contents of the strategy.

The report has virtually ignored Minden and the facilities, attractions and potential attractions it enjoys. By the consultant's and Ontario Government official's own admissions, such reports have had a major impact in other areas. Investors use the consultant's recommendations as a guide and in some respects the report becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy.

It is unfortunate Minden will not benefit, except as a "hinterland" from the report. This area has much to offer the day visitor and overnight traveller. The report means this area will have to continue to fight that much harder to maintain its place in the scramble for tourists and attractions.

There are benefits to be gleaned from the adjacent development centres, and we wish them well, but somehow it is difficult not to feel the hair on the back of one's neck bristle a little when we see how lightly the Minden area was passed over in the consultant's findings.



Clean up our own backyards first

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

The Parliamentary Sub-Committee on Acid Rain has published its report, and its findings and recommendations are both revealing and shocking.

Chaired by Liberal M.P. Ron Irwin, the sub-committee travelled the length and breadth of the country, examining sources of acid rain pollution, and interviewing scores of witnesses and experts on the subject.

Irwin said that he is sick and tired of all the talk about the acid rain problem, and he wants to see some action on the part of both the federal and provincial governments to bring in tough legislation to force polluters to clean up their operations.

The sub-committee report recommends that we stop blaming the Americans for the acid rain pollution problem, pointing out that ten of the worst sources of acid rain are right here in Canada. Chairman Irwin also urges the federal government to stop waiting for the U.S. to enter into a joint Canada/U.S. agreement to combat the acid rain problem and start now to clean up our own sources of pollution.

Irwin said that, if Canada takes positive steps to crack down on its industrial sources of acid rain pollution, he feels certain that the U.S. will follow our example. He said that we have to recognize that at least 50 per cent of the acid rain sources are located in our own country.

Among the top ten major sources of acid rain pollution cited in the report are five industries in Ontario. These are the INCO plant at Copper Cliff, Algoma Steel Corporation's plant at Wawa, and three Ontario Hydro plants, the Lambton, Nanticoke and Lakeview stations.

Ontario Hydro's initial response to the report was to say that it would cost in the neighbourhood of two-and-a-half billion dollars to install anti-pollution devices, such as scrubbers, in all of its coal-fired hydro generating. Hydro said that this cost would have to be passed along to consumers, resulting in excessively high hydro rates for Ontarians.

That might be true in part, but I don't believe that that is the whole answer. There has got to be joint federal/provincial agreement and action to control what has become the most serious environmental problem facing both the U.S. and Canada.

The sub-committee report points out that, under the British North America Act, jurisdiction over the environment was not vested in either the federal or provincial governments. It does point out though, that the federal government can exercise its authority under the Criminal Code to control emissions that originate in one province but have effects beyond its borders, especially where the public health is concerned.

The report shows that Ontario is by far the greatest source of acid rain of all the provinces in the country, both with regard to sulphur dioxide and nitrogen oxides, the two main ingredients in acid rain.

There can be no doubt that it is time for us to stop blaming the U.S. for polluting Canadian lakes and rivers and start to look inward. We must initiate immediate and positive negotiations between the federal and provincial governments to act on the recommendations of the sub-committee.

We have known for a long time that the cost of controlling and eliminating the effects of acid rain pollution will be great. However, the cost of not acting will be considerably greater, and we are already approaching the point where Canadian waters and other aspects of our environment are being destroyed beyond any hope of recovery.

The province buys into Suncor

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

When the Legislature reconvened after the summer recess on Tuesday, the Premiere made a surprise announcement about the government's purchase, for $650 million, of a slice of Canada's oil industry, namely a quarter of the shares of American-owned Suncor Inc., which sells Sunoco gasoline.

For 13 million common shares, the Province is paying $325 in cash and a further $325 million - with interest - over ten years. It's estimated that the investment will bring in an estimated $100 million a year, and give the government greater knowledge of developments in the oil industry.

Purchase money will come straight from the provincial treasury, thereby increasing the government's budgetary deficit, already projected at $997 million for this year, and forcing it to borrow more at an estimated additional cost of $100 million a year to the taxpayer.

Liberal finance critic, David Peterson, condemned the government for failing to go for control over Suncor's policies. "A minority purchase is not an effective instrument for public policy", he said. "There is more in this to meet the eye than meet the mind. The polls tell Mr. Davis that the public is for Canadianization so he is fooling them into thinking that's what he's doing."

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Haliburton Highlands

The long awaited zone study on Peterborough-Haliburton region was released and discussed at the C.O.T.A. annual meeting held at Wig-a-Mog Inn last Thursday. This study was completed by independent consultants and funded by the Ministry of Industry and Tourism under the "Framework for Opportunity" program. The province contains 17 zones that they intend to study in this way and we are the fourth zone to be completed.

The Haliburton County Economic Development Commission was instrumental in having our area designated for a study zone at this point in time. Comments from Ministry personnel would indicate that they are now convinced that the commission was quite right in their submissions to Queen's Park when they stressed the urgent need of our area. They noted that the study had taken much longer (almost a year) and had been far more complicated than certainly they had envisioned at the outset.

The consultants emphasize that the "conclusions and recommendations are those of the consultants and may not reflect the opinions of the Ministry of Industry and Tourism or the many others who contributed to the study." Past experience, however, indicates that the studies in other zones have had a major impact on the amount of development that has taken place and the direction it took.

Considering the large geographic area the zone included the study is quite detailed and complete. When you narrow down to the specifics of our county, however, there unfortunately seems to be a lot more that could have been looked into. Of course this also applies to the other areas in the zone, and had they gone into much more detail the volumes of paper may have become unmanageable.

The study now becomes a selling tool, and may, if desired by those planning the future of our communities provide guidelines for promoting and developing them. The study will be available to those considering development anywhere in the study zone and should be of assistance to them in making decisions.

Copies of the study are available at the Ministry office in Peterborough or Orillia and at the Government Book Store in Queen's Park at a cost of $25.00. The consultants will be available for individual interviews with those considering development in the zone at the PineStone Inn on November 10th and 11th.

Summer visitors

In a newspaper article last week some figures were provided which pointed out how many visitors had been seeking assistance from our centres throughout the county. There were a few details we felt compelled to point out since some members have questioned us about them.

The Cardiff Log School House and the Haliburton Caboose are operated by the municipalities of Cardiff and Dysart respectively, not by the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber provides promotional materials and assistance wherever possible, and in the case of Dysart, provided one of the staff members on an Experience '81 program. The Chamber office at Minden provides the third information centre and is operated all year round by our own staff and this summer we had the benefit of two students on Experience '81 programs.

The traffic count at the Haliburton Caboose is by actual count of individual people coming through the door is the only logical way of doing it where they are located. They have a great deal of pedestrian traffic in there now since the caboose was moved adjacent to the park entrance. The Chamber office on the other hand is located on the highway and is visited by those who consciously pull off the highway to obtain information. In view of this the count is taken in "visitor parties" regardless whether that group contained one or twenty people. The Cardiff centre would be the same. If the average visitor party was 4 this would give us a figure of almost 10,000 visitors for comparision with the 13,000 at the caboose. The number of visitors at the caboose remains very impressive but this does put things a little more in perspective.

We should also note that although visitor parties to the Chamber showed a decrease this year such did not appear to be the case. Although the records maintained by the students this year and last indicated a drop of almost 600 parties, the amount of activity certainly appeared to be higher and there may have been an error in the totals.

Minden Post Office marks change-over

Friday marked a special day at the Minden Post Office and similar facilities across the country. Some 30,000 postal employees were no longer civil servants and joined the ranks of the newly created Crown corporation. Assistant Postmaster Lloyd Johnson prepared the following report on the local ceremony.

Friday afternoon a small, but important, ceremony was held at the local post office.

The employees gathered at their afternoon coffee break to celebrate "P-Day". On that day, similar celebrations were being held in all post offices and processing plants across Canada. It marked the beginning of an era - for "P" stands for Proclamation - and P-Day, October 16, 1981, marked the end of the post office as a department of the federal government, and the beginning of the Canada Post Corporation. The theme of the celebration was, "Tomorrow Starts Today".

At the invitation of the new head of the Corporation, Michael Warren, all employees joined in this celebration as a gesture of co-operation and good-will for the future of the new corporation. A tastefully decorated cake inscribed "C.P.C. 81-10-16", was the centre of attraction and a toast was drunk in the "Champagne of Ginger Ales". Perhaps, since this brand bears a trade name linked with the corporation, this was more than a symbolic gesture. Certainly the future of the service is linked with the future of this great country.

The local Postmaster, Don Berry, read messages from the president and from Pierre Poulin, district director of the eastern district of the Ontario Postal Region. He then presented souvenir kits to each employee.

Among other items, the kits contained a first day cover bearing the panel of 4 Canada stamps that were issued in June this year. These were cancelled with a Canada Post Corporation logo bearing the date of proclamation. This special cover is issued only to employees as of October 16 and is not available to the public. Therefore, it will become a collector's item of considerable value in the future.

On the evening of October 27, employees of all the smaller offices in this area will travel to Lindsay for a special audio-visual presentation on the Canada Post Corporation. That presentation will be conducted by Supervisory Postmaster T.G. Wells, Postmaster at Lindsay.

Council pays $500 extra

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has finally agreed to pay Ron Bolender $500 for the extra work carried out during dredging operation at a municipal park next to the Hunter's Horn property on Lake Kashagawigamog. The contractor, who carried out the work this summer, was requesting an additional $640.

Township by-law enforcement officer, Dick Schell, told the councillors that the contractor was aware that the extra work would be needed prior to beginning the project, but not before he had submitted his tender for the work. The additional work involved the moving of dredged material farther from the shore of the lake. The Ministry of Natural Resources had requested the extra move to reduce the possibility of the material washing back into the lake.

Councillor Lyle McKnight said that the council had been informed there would possibly be extra charges involved in the project, but the contractor was told to proceed anyway. He said it wasn't fair for the council to suggest now that since the extra work was not included in the contract it was not responsible. McKnight suggested the township should offer $400 to $450 to cover the extra effort.

Schell noted that when he was approached by Bolender about the additional work, he had told the man he would receive up to $500 to cover the additional costs.

Councillor Ed Pergolas stated that if that was the understanding the contractor had, it was council's responsibility to meet that expense.

The council agreed by consensus that the $500 amount should be paid to the contractor.

Pergolas questions method of issuing permits

Councillor Ed Pergolas has expressed surprise and annoyance over the way permission for building permits on a number of lots fronting on Highway 35 were granted by the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council. The councillor stated his feelings at the October 14 meeting of the council.

He was referring to the lots which front on the highway, just north of the Scotch Line Road. The council granted permission for building permits to be issued for these lots even though they do not have direct access to a publicly maintained street. The deeds for the lots contain a notification that the owners will have access to the properties by a private road at the rear in which all will share ownership. The council has agreed that if the owners of the road bring it up to municipal standards, it will be accepted into the township system.

Pergolas said he was annoyed by the council's action because the question was not included on the agenda of the September 9 meeting. That meeting had to be continued the following morning. However, when the meeting was resumed, Councillor Pergolas had left for a vacation. He questioned why the matter, which had not been included on the agenda, suddenly was dealt with the next day.

The councillor also expressed concern for the purchasers of the lots who might be expecting a municipally maintained roadway or demand that the municipality take over the road once the homes are built.

He also questioned why earlier efforts by other developers to get approval had been blocked by the municipal council and now the permission was granted so quickly.

Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard also noted that permission had not been granted in the past because the property owners had not agreed to the building of a road to service the lots.

According to the municipal clerk, the Ministry of Transportation and Communications had not objected to the issuing of building permits for the lots as long as the property owners were aware they could not gain access to the highway from their property. The by-law enforcement officer, Dick Schell, told the meeting that five requests for building permits have already been received from property owners in the area.

While still expressing reservations about the permission granted by the council, Councillor Pergolas admitted that what had taken place in the area appeared to be done legally.

Runaway car causes $4200 damage

A vehicle which ran out of control in the Minden IGA parking lot caused $4200 damage. The vehicle belonged to Penny Obee of Minden.

The driver had placed the gear shift in the park position and gotten out of the 1977 Mercury to investigate a wire which was dragging underneath. While out of the vehicle, the gear shift moved into reverse and the vehicle started to move. The car's engine was idling at a high rate and, when it lurched into gear, it began to move at a rapid pace. Obee attempted to get back into the car and was able to get part way in the driver's door but was unable to regain complete control of the vehicle as it lurched about the parking lot.

The car glanced off a concrete pillar which holds up the IGA sign, rolled over a Rotary Club sign and moved into the parking area in front of Highlands Plumbing and Heating store. It hit a 1973 Oldsmobile belonging to Miriam Lewis and turned back toward the IGA lot. Here the runaway car struck the front end of a 1978 Ford owned by Barbara Carpenter of Lochlin before finally coming to a stop.

Damage to the sign was $100, to the Lewis vehicle $300, to the Carpenter car $800 and to the Obee vehicle, $3000. While Obee was shaken by the experience, she was uninjured.

The accident occured October 15.

Investigation of the incident was carried out by Constable Brian Dunham.

Windows broken

Police are continuing their investigation into a series of incidents involving broken windows in the Village of Haliburton. According to police, during a three-day period from October 12 to 14, 12 windows were broken at a number of village locations.

Damage was estimated at $440. The incidents took place at the Haliburton Machine Shop, Victoria Street School and the Haliburton United Church.

Authorities suspect the vandalism was done by local youths.

Constable Mike Smith is carrying out the investigation.

Moose struck

A car-moose collision resulted in $600 damage to a vehicle driven by Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick Friday evening. The reeve was travelling on Highway 519 when the moose appeared on the road. The driver attempted to veer around the animal, but was unsuccessful.

The investigation is being carried out by Constable Al Barnes.

Thefts

A variety of items were taken in thefts during the past week in the county. Police are continuing a number of investigations into the disappearance of the following items; 50 sheets of corrugated metal; four bottles of liquor, 36 face cords of firewood logs, a CB radio, tool box with tools, one case of beer, a canoe, six horse power outboard motor and stereo equipment.

Reminder

The first flakes of snow earlier this week offered evidence that winter cannot be far off. Police suggest that motorists consider getting ready for the snowy season now. Snow tires should be installed and extra care should be taken to ensure rear and front windows are properly cleared of snow and frost.

PUCK TALK

Welcome back to the first edition of Puck Talk, a weekly report on the activities of the Minden Minor Hockey Association and teams. The column will once again be supplied by association member Shirley Walker, who has done an excellent job in the past keeping readers informed on Minor Hockey activity.

-Minden Minor Hockey teams have been practising since September 14 at the Haliburton arena. The ice time is being paid for by the Minden association. However, now that the ice is in at the Minden arena, practices and games can begin here.

-The winner for the draw for free registration this year was Scott Russell.

-The association is planning a 50/50 draw with the winning ticket to be selected December 19, just in time for Christmas.

-As everyone knows by now, there will be no Intermediate C team this year. While an effort was made to get one organized, a sponsor was located and everything seemed to be coming along well, however, we were unable to find a coach for the team.

-For those interested in the financial ins and outs of the association, a comparision sheet of income and expenses for the last two hockey seasons will be posted at the arena.

-A fund to purchase Plexiglas for the arena has been started. A number of donations have been received. Those interested in adding to it should contact the Minden Recreation Committee.

-Hockey begins this weekend with two games planned for Saturday, October 24. The Pee Wees take to the ice at 4 p.m. to face Fenelon Falls, while Haliburton is in town at 5:30 p.m.

-Finally, a reminder of the annual Minor Hockey Hallowe'en Dance at the Minden Community Centre. The dance will be held Saturday, October 31.

Huskies lose 2

The Haliburton Huskies dropped two games during the weekend, both by identical scores, 8-3.

The team lost to Midland Friday evening in Midland and Sunday afternoon bowed to Penetang at the Haliburton arena.

Ron Yake picked up two of the goals in the Friday evening match. Tim Davies assisted on both goals with Scott Arbuthnot also helping on the second marker. Also scoring for Minden was Shaun Chapman with an assist going to Ed Davis.

Chapman, Yake and Davies shared the scoring honours Sunday, each notching a goal in each of the three periods. Chapman was assisted by Scott Arbuthnot. Jim Lee and Corey Walker were credited with the assists in the Yake goal while Darrin MacInnes and Scott Arbuthnot assisted on the Davies marker.

The Huskies get an opportunity to revenge their Sunday loss this Friday as they travel to Penetang for a game. The second weekend game will be played Saturday evening back at the Haliburton arena when Oro will face the local team.

Team defeated

Members of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School team have been eliminated from the Reach for the Top competition this year. The foursome were defeated during a taping session October 13 in Barrie. The team faced students from Banting Memorial Secondary School in Alliston.

The local team scored a victory in the first round several weeks ago.

The program which was taped last week will be shown on CKVR television October 31 at 6 p.m.

Redmen must win Friday to clinch position in football playoffs

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen have their backs to the wall as they head into the final game of the regular football season this Friday afternoon.

The team lost a close and exciting game in Lindsay last Thursday afternoon at the hands of I.E. Weldon High School. The game, which went into overtime, ended with the host team ahead 17-16.

The Redmen must win Friday to make the playoffs.

The big boot of quarterback Tim Davies was put to good use again last week as he kicked three field goals and converted Haliburton's only touchdown. Two of the markers were scored in the opening half of the game. Haliburton's touchdown was on a 20 yard pass play from Tim Davies to Mike Hatkoski. I.E. Weldon scored a field goal and touchdown before the first half came to an end.

The third field goal for Davies came in the third quarter giving the Redmen a 16-10 edge.

However, in what was to be the final quarter, Weldon managed a touchdown. The first attempt at conversion was missed, but play was called back because of an offside call. The second attempt was blocked and the teams were tied 16-16 at the end of regulation time.

Lindsay managed a single point in the first period of overtime and it was enough for the team to claim the victory as the Redmen were unable to score.

The do-or-die game for the Haliburton team is this Friday afternoon at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School playing field. Game time is 2 o'clock.

By the blue that bends above them,
By the smiling friends who love them,
By the hope that gilds tomorrow,
By the faith that sweetens sorrow,
By the health that God has lent them,
For the tasks for which He sent them.
By uncounted little pleasures
May their lives be richly blessed
Every day, year or minute, hold something lovely in it...

Don't hurry if you meet a friend
And sweep by with just, "Hello".
Stop a bit, shake hands and smile;
His face will start to glow!
Maybe your time is short, but if
You'll listen for awhile,
His burdens may be lightened
And his face will really smile!
And every moment "lost" thereby
Will sing to heaven where
It adds a touch of gold
For your treasure waiting there!

For dishes - Save time and money by using the cheapest brand of dish washing detergent available, but add a few tablespoons of vinegar to the dishwater. The vinegar will cut the grease and leave your dishes sparkling clean.

Down Under Diary

Kathy MacGregor is a local high school student who is spending a year in New Zealand as an exchange student. She is taking part in the exchange sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club and Rotary International. Kathy has agreed to share some of her impressions of life down under with our readers. The following is the first such report.

I finally arrived in New Zealand, after a day lay-over in Fiji due to mechanical problems on the plane. The 20 hour flight was exciting and interesting. It is a very strange feeling to be travelling half way around the world.

My first sight of New Zealand was when approaching Auckland International Airport. In the distance I could see magnificant mountains and green pastures. I was really impressed with the amount of green present as it was late winter! In March, in Minden I would be shocked to see any green at all except maybe in the flower shops.

As I was driven over the Rimutuka (pronounced Room-a-tuk-a) hills, between Wellington and Carteron, I saw more of the New Zealand landscape. There are a variety of palm trees and fern trees. Almost everything was green except for the odd blossom coming out.

The town of Carterton is relatively small with a population of 4,000. The downtown area is all on one street which is also a highway which leads to Wellington. There are approximately 50 stores in the downtown region, with the residential areas to either end of this region. Carterton is basically a farming community, relying on country farmers to support the local economy. Prices in New Zealand in the food and most clothing areas are basically the same, with the exception of shoes which are very expensive (cheapest pair of running shoes around are $50) and also socks (1 pair of plain white bobbie sox are $3 to $3.50).

School is different in many ways. Here, you wear a uniform, the grades are called forms and the high schools are called colleges. Academically the school systems are the same except here they are slightly more advanced in mathematics. The school discipline is tighter here and the teachers tend to be less personal. The students are very nice and friendly and they seem to like school on the whole.

The climate of New Zealand is not as extreme as Ontario's. In the winter, the rain (not snow) comes and the thermometer dips down to about 5 to 10 degrees C. In the summer, the sun comes out and the mercury rises to 15 to 25 degrees C. In the spring (the time of year now), the wind comes up and the Equinox gales start in until late October. The only snow I have seen is on the mountains in the distance!

Already I've been taken to Parliament, where I was entertained by a Cabinet Minister. Even he, Hon. Mr. Ben Couch, Minister of Police and also Maori Affairs, took time out of his busy timetable (an election is called for the end of November) to see me and show me around.

HHSS advances to finals

As the result of a tournament Tuesday in Peterborough, the girls' field hockey team from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School has advanced to the COSSA play-offs.

The team, under the direction of physical education instructor Kit Pizzey, won two and lost two games to claim the spot on the play-off schedule.

The Haliburton team defeated St. Peter's in the first game 1-0 and were then shut-out by Thomas A. Stewart High School of Peterborough 3-0. The local squad then went on to defeat the host school, Kenner Collegiate 2-0.

In the final round they met Thomas A. Stewart school once again and lost 5-0 but were able to maintain their hold on the play-off position.

During the weekend the team travelled to Oakville for an exhibition tournament. They played six games on Saturday and three on Sunday and came up with a four win, two loss, three tie record.

The COSSA finals will take place next week, again in Peterborough, where Haliburton Highlands Secondary School will face four other teams for top honours.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Bert Harrison

Well, Thanksgiving time has come and gone and what a Thanksgiving time it was. The colour was beautiful, the weather sublime, it surely was a lovely Thanksgiving time.

For all the residents, on their behalf, I would like to thank the head cook and all his staff for serving us such a lovely Thanksgiving dinner. It surely was a winner.

Rev. Brubacher held a real nice Thanksgiving service in the Chapel Sunday night. Then Bob McBrien Tuesday morning. These men give of their time to put on these lovely services for us. I wish more would come to the Chapel to hear them.

Tuesday afternoon we watched some real interesting movies. One especially showing what handicapped people can do. Lovely paintings holding the brushes in their teeth.

Wednesday afternoon the ladies worked in the craft room getting ready for their Bazaar. They have some lovely flower carts made by Teddy Carr.

We would like at this time to convey our deepest sympathy to Mr. Sidney Brown on the death of his mother.

Wednesday night was games night where we spent a social hour. some, who got defeated, leave looking rather sour.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of the A.C.W. of the Anglican Church in Kinmount brought over a lovely lunch and they were sure a happy bunch. They danced the Hyland Fling, Nellie Grey and Red Wing. Thank you ladies for putting on such a nice time for us.

Four mornings a week it is fun and fitness in the auditorium. We surely have a lot of fun.

Friday afternoon is sing song time, and once again these faithful ladies come to entertain. With Norma Barron playing the music and Grace Coburn leading the singing, much pleasure they are bringing.

I think I'll close my letter now. I can't think of anything more. I will try and tell you next week what we have in store.
